As a former Preacher of Gray s Inn, the life and writings of Archbishop Wake had a natural interest for me. Moreover, the frequent discussion, during the past year, of proposals for reunion among separated bodies of Christians tended to recall a period of Wake s life, when his thoughts were much occupied by similar proposals. It seemed, accordingly, that it might not be useless or inappropriate to relate, in fuller detail than had hitherto been done, a project in which he was once engaged for the reunion of two national Churches. The fact that the scheme to outward appearance proved abortive does not deprive it of its value. The correspondence between two such representative men as an Archbishop of Canterbury and one of the most learned jurists of France, cannot but be instructive. We may at least gain from it a clearer conception of the difficulties that must beset us, when we attempt to reach an end, in itself confessedly good, but towards which the road has not yet been sufficiently levelled and prepared. The published works of Dr. Wake, like those of his great correspondent Du Pin, afford ample evidence of his learning and industry. But our admiration of these qualities is increased when we survey what he has left unpublished. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
