

Slow Air (Paperback)

By Robin Robertson

Pan MacMillan, United Kingdom, 2002. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book. A Painted Field - Robin Robertson's first collection - was published in 1997 to unanimous acclaim. In language both sensuous and coolly forthright, the poems in Slow Air describe the arc of loss, the search for grace, and the radiance and shadows of the natural world - the work pitching its embattled romanticism, its lyric weight, against fear, grief and erasure. Praise for A Painted Field `A superb debut . . . darkly chiselled poems haunted by mortality and the fragility of life's pleasures Kazuo Ishiguro, Sunday Times Books of the Year `The best new poet in Britain is Robin Robertson Andrew O Hagan, Independent on Sunday Books of the Year `A poetic voice of quiet yet charged maturity: lyrical and complex, transparent and gravid, it can treat both the public theme and the intensely personal with the same serenely wrought fire William Boyd, Scotsman Books of the Year `Robin Robertson is a master of the poetic line; this is wonderful work, at once muscular and delicate, ringing with a plangent, bitter music. A marvellous debut John Banville.

It is just one of the best publications. This can be for anyone who states that there was not a well worth reading through. Once you begin to read the book, it is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding.
